

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

MONDAY, EVE. JANUARY 26, 1885.

The Western Nail Association has advanced the price of nails about five per cent.

There is a large decrease of wheat acreage in this State owing mostly to cold weather.

There are more than 125,000 Baptists in the State, with an average of ten churches to every county.

Ten thousand bushels of coal were given away to the poor of Louisville last week by the city authorities.

There are eighteen hundred families at Cincinnati depending on the Associated Charities for the necessities of life.

The amount paid in the last five years for pensions, writes a Washington correspondent to the New York Sun, exceeds $300,000,000.

The failures of the last seven days are: In the United States, 371; Canada, 40; total, 411, as compared with a total of 430 last week.

The Department of Agriculture reports that a large part of the Kentucky wheat crop is still in original hands, and is being held for better prices.

Blen's resolution to the Treasury Department to collect all whisky taxes at the expiration of bonded period is not likely to be reported soon.

The Secretary of the interior has issued a rule by which applicants for pensions, etc., may discharge agents and designate new ones without filing any complaint.

The aggregate length of the railroads of this country is something over 125,000 miles. In the tremendous disproportion of length to breadth, the railroads are exceeded perhaps only by the Congressional speeches on the Inter-State Commerce bill.

In the Senate a bill to increase the number of inspector generals of the army was passed. It provides for one inspector general with the rank of brigadier general, two inspector generals with the rank of colonel, two with the rank of lieutenant colonel and two with the rank of major.

This House Committee on Public Health has decided to recommend an appropriation of $25,000 for the National Board of Health, and $100,000 to be used at the discretion of the President in preventing the spread of cholera, should it appear in this country before the next Congress assembles.

The Covington Commonwealth thinks it a commendable rivalry which induces towns to seek to rank high in tables of population and says: "The town which makes the best efforts to improve the roads running into it, best provides for its schools, demands the cleanest administration of local affairs, and which keeps down the taxes will be apt to show the largest increase of population in 1890."

The Philadelphia Record says: There are those who think school teaching easy work. Five or six hours a day seem little to men or women who work eight or more hours. Then there is whole holiday every Saturday, several legal holidays and months of vacation, during which pay runs on all the same. Yet let those who, not brought up to teaching, think it easy try it awhile for a change, and the chances are that they will soon wish to be back at their former business. To those whose eyes or muscles are really much overworked school teaching might, even with all its drawbacks, be some relief; but the majority of those whose present occupation consists in the performance of some definite task would find that the compressed worry of five hours teaching is more exhaustive than twice its length of ordinary work.

It is no easy matter to learn to keep within decent bounds the uncivilized tendencies of forty or fifty small children most of them longing for fun, some listless or unwell, others too pert, all on the watch to catch the teacher, and without mercy for her faults or peculiarities. It is no easy task to not only maintain order but to educate at the same time, and if too often the order is maintained and the education neglected it is really not to be wondered at, for no teacher can do for forty, fifty or more children what she could do for twenty. Mechanism predominates by force of circumstances, and both teachers and taught, unless care is taken, are likely to starve for want of ideas. As has been shown in another part of the duty of the conscientious teacher, she (the feminine is used because female teachers are vastly in excess) must study at home and must meet other teachers in teachers' meetings if her teaching is to be fruitful. The teacher whose only aim is to somehow or other worry through the hours of attendance ought not, however admirable or clever she may be, to be a teacher.

A DUEL POSSIBLE.

Young Holman Floors the Wrong Man for Insulting a Lady.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 26.—On Friday evening Mrs. Stewart opened her elegant reception rooms for a general reception of official and fashionable society. Stewart was ably assisted by her step-daughter, a lady friend of young Holman, and she complained of it to the young hoosier. He and the other young men of the party were some what excited with wine and the pleasures of the dance. He got from the young lady a hasty personal description of the offender, and rushed off to find him. He found the Castro in the gentlemen's dressing room. White with passion he walked up to De Castro: "Take that, you infernal scoundrel!" The words were accompanied by a stinging blow from the shoulder, passed tremendously on De Castro's mouth. It was totally unexpected and it was so, Holman bent over to give him another, but other young men in the room interfered. Young Holman was caught by Charles Poore, of Syracuse, N. Y., son of Admiral Poore, and restrained with him. Holman turned instantly upon his heels, thrust a lady (a California friend) into the arms of a friend, and then Stewart's house should not be made the scene of a disgraceful brawl. By this time the dressing room was crowded. Before young Holman could be pacified several blows were passed between members of the general crowd, and a young soldier man by the name of O'Brien was knocked out, and a general fight seemed imminent. The lady California, however, played policeman so effectively as to put an end to the affair. It said that young Holman only regrets that he hit the wrong man, and has apologized to De Castro.

The latter has spurned any apology and will demand personal satisfaction. Meanwhile young Holman is looking for the real offender, and at the same time is not unwilling to fight a duel, if necessary. The incident is one of the greatest social sensations of the season.

GOV. IRELAND EXCITED.

He Wants Protection for Texans Living on the Mexican Borders.

AUSTIN, Tex., Jan. 26.—Gov. Ireland, in his inaugural address, uses the following language: "Since my last message to the two houses was penned, the knowledge has reached me of the perpetration of a series of horrible crimes, murders and thefts on Texas soil by incursions of predatory bands from Mexico. Since it has become known that neither Mexico nor the United States will surrender of their own citizens to be taken to the other government to be tried for crime, the people on the right bank of the Rio Grande have become emboldened, and they have on Mexican soil covered with the blood of our women and children, and their deaths in sight of our people. I have made repeated efforts through the secretary of state, to induce a discussion of the propriety of amending the treaty of 1861 so as to permit any one, no matter where his allegiance may lie, to be extradited, but no results have followed. Commercial treaties and money affairs seem to be of more importance than the blood of our people. In the last few days I have written to the president, giving him full accounts of the condition of affairs on the Rio Grande, and have also informed him that Texas can, if need be, protect herself, and minute companies and state troops on that border have been directed to protect our people without deference to nice points of international law. If the federal troops, whose duty it is, under the constitution, to do so, are too tender to patrol the border, or if the few companies in the interior consider a show at dress parades of more importance, it will seem that their presence on our soil is of little practical use. The governor concludes with the statement that his remarks were not intended for criticism of the commanding officer in Texas, (meaning Gen. Stanley,) but a criticism of the general management of the war department.

ASTOUNDING ELECTION FRAUD.

CHICAGO, Jan. 26.—A recount of ballots just completed by the county special grand jury shows definitely that the proposition to appropriate $100,000 for an additional police force, declared by the canvassing board to have been carried, was in reality lost by several hundred votes, and that through fraud, aided by stupidity and carelessness, $100,000 of the city's funds have been misappropriated. Not a single precinct of the 171 in the city was found from which a perfectly correct return of the vote on the police appropriation was made, and the proposition actually received over four thousand less votes than were credited to it by the canvassing board. It is stated that indictments will be voted against seventy-five per cent. of the 513 judges who served at the election, and that they will not be indicted jointly, but severally. The clerks of the election will not be indicted. The expectation, it is stated, is that the indicted judges will be fined from $10 to $50 each, and that the majority of them will go to court, plead guilty and pay their fines.

URCULE AND SUICIDE.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 26.—The police on being notified that a murder and suicide had been committed in Mulberry street, discovered the bodies of Michael Roche, a young Irishman, and his wife, Annie, fairly waiting in blood. The wife was dead, but the man, with his hair torn from his head, was alive, but unable to speak. He gazed at the officers with wild, glassy eye balls, and with his hand still clutching the razor with which the butchery had been committed. No one seemed to know the cause of the tragedy. Roche and his wife arrived from Liverpool New Year's night, since which time quarrels and family broils were frequent. Friday night, Roche, in a drunken condition, and with a huge knife, chased his wife through the streets for four hours. He was probably intoxicated when he committed the deed. He died in a few hours.

SHE EXCUSED HIS CLOTHES.

AMERICA, Ga., Jan. 26.—When Carey Williams, an attaché of Harris & J. & J. store, looked up on Friday he saw before him Miss Anna Broadhead. She had got as well as love in her eye. Carey begged for time to put on his Sunday clothes. "I'll excuse your clothes," she said, dangled as she caught his arm and led him off to the ordinary's office, where they were married. "You see," said the newly made wife to an officer, "I was a little foolish to begin with, and this marriage was necessary."

Tou Dugan, an old trapper and Indian hunter, was killed and eaten by wolves within two miles of a logging camp near Metropolitan, Mich. He had killed thirteen of the wolves before being overpowered.

No Wonder.

A MAN WHO SUFFERED MENTAL AND PHYSICAL AGONY EIGHT YEARS PROCLAIMS HIS HAPPINESS.

Mental agony is dreaded, but when that and physical ailment combine, it is simply terrible. Such was the condition of Geo. W. Frampton, of Huntingdon, W. Va., for eight years. He was afflicted with a cancerous—that is, the leg bone at the ankle was inflamed and mortified, which caused running sores. He says: "Pieces of bone the size of a silver three cent piece came out of the sores on my leg. The discharge from the sores was almost continual, and I was unable to walk. For eight years I have been doctoring. I had been under the treatment of a physician at Newport, Ky., for a year; another at Burlington, O., for three years. He consulted a doctor here at Huntingdon worked with me for a long time. None of them did me any good, and they all finally said my case was hopeless. A few months ago I commenced trying PERUNA, and now I am well. I can walk as good as anybody, and have perfect use of my limbs."

Mr. Alf. Lusk, Wooster, Ohio, writes: "DR. HARTMAN, Columbus, O. I have been a great sufferer from that dread disease, chronic catarrh of the stomach. I have thoroughly tried my MANLIN, and it has done me more good ten-fold than all the doctors' prescriptions, and I have used none of them."

Mr. Edgar Harte, Smetzer, P. O., Elk county, Pa., writes: "I have bought several bottles of your PERUNA, and find it to be of great benefit. I also gave it to some of my friends; they experienced the same result."

Mr. L. R. Wollen, 45 and 47 Ross street, Pittsburgh, Pa., writes: "I am taking PERUNA with good results, and can highly recommend it to any one afflicted with the different dry stores for one of your books. They claim they have none on hand at present. Please do me the favor to send me one."

W. W. Russell, druggist, Canonsburg, Pa., writes: "I handle your medicine, PERUNA. I have sold immense quantities of it, and consider it a staple article. I have a great many customers who think there is no medicine like it for a tonic or for building up the system. I recommend it as a safe and reliable remedy."

Calista Fisher, Malvern, Ohio, writes: "I take pleasure in recommending the use of PERUNA and MANLIN to any one afflicted with any form of lung or bronchial trouble. I have been for some time afflicted with a very bad chronic cough, and the use of bottles of PERUNA entirely cured me."
